

Seriously Uncool, Uncool, Cool, Sub-Zero

May 2, 2011 / Gavin Jackson

cool wall

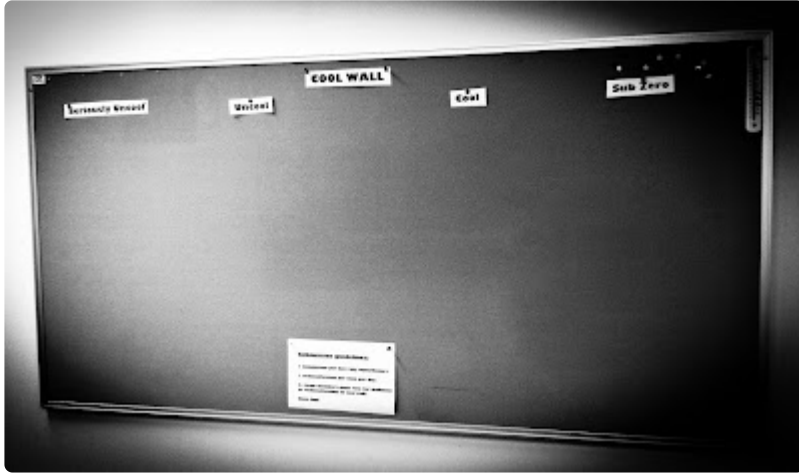

fun

leadership

morale

team building

top gear

I've just set up a new cool wall at work. It's a complete copy of the famous "Top Gear" cool wall. Back when I worked for Les Mills Asia Pacific this provided a great outlet for geeky debate - it also facilitated cross-branch interaction.

More often than not, many work topics find their way onto the cool wall - such as good (or bad) software products, languages and IT companies.

Here are some guidelines:

- 1 nomination per person, per day
- 1 reclassification per item per day
- 2 or more people must vote on an item for cool wall inclusion
- Have fun!

I'll post again in a few months time with some of the more interesting items that find their way onto the wall. Let me know how you go with your cool walls!

Downloaded from <https://www.gavinj.net/post/seriously-uncool-uncool-cool-sub-zero>

Generated June 24, 2026. Copyright Gavin Jackson. All rights reserved.